

Corey Lawrence taking IHOP to the Community

Corey Lawrence, East Harlem's prominent businessman, also known for his suave approach and sterling business ethic has been sweetening the 'taste buds' of patrons' in buzzing New York City through his innovative vision and friendly staff at IHOP's East 126 Street and Lexington Avenue and 135th Street locations. His 4-year collaboration with Good Neighbors Community Outreach Agency (GNCOA) and the New Testament Temple (NTT) Church of God in the Bronx has been beneficial to the community.

With Corey's commitment to giving back to the community his collaboration with GNCOA and NTT has resulted in the distribution of thanksgiving dinners to the homeless, boxes of love to the sick and shut-ins and a weekly breakfast served for community residents.

The highlight of the collaboration is the annual Fun In The Son Gospel Festival held in August. Over the years we have had in attendance approximately 9,000 families. His influence has contributed significantly to attracting other business owners to support this highly acclaimed community event.

Corey's collaborative efforts helped to produce one of the best family oriented music festivals in New York City.

He has given his commitment to Fun In The Son 2015 which promises to attract over 8,000 people.

Corey caters breakfast for 200 persons monthly in addition to meetings, luncheons and conferences.
